Join the Mad Hatter painting experience

The Rappahannock Art League will offer an oil painting workshop from 6 to 9 p.m. May 8, 9 and 10 at the Studio Gallery at 19 North Main Street in Kilmarnock.

"Break free from you mindset of how to paint an image," said instructor Charles VanDenburgh. "Turn your world upside down."

The three-evening workshop will approach oil painting using a simple and innovative technique that enables even beginning painters to produce an outstanding work by reducing the scene to easy-to-paint abstract images, said VanDenburgh.

"The final effect will surprise you," he said. "And it's lots of fun!"

All skill levels are welcome. The fee is $90 for members and $95 for others. To register, call 436-9309.

Red Cross schedules three volunteer expos

Volunteer expos are scheduled in the coming weeks for the River Counties and Northumberland County chapters of the American Red Cross.

Both chapters are in search of persons willing and able to volunteer time and effort to a good cause, said volunteer coordinator Jane Bishop.

The expos will be held in different locations to better serve the potential volunteers in Essex, Lancaster, Middlesex, Northumberland, Richmond and Westmoreland counties, said Bishop.

Expos will be held at 1 p.m. May 12 at the River Counties office at 39 William B. Graham Court in Kilmarnock; 11 a.m. May 17 at the Northumberland office at 6348 Northumberland Highway in Heathsville; and 1 p.m. June 2 at Calvary United Methodist Church at 1439 Boswell Road near Warsaw.

The American Red Cross is a humanitarian organization led by volunteers providing relief to victims of disasters and helping people prevent, prepare for, and respond to emergencies, explained Bishop. According to the Mission Statement, The American Red Cross prevents and alleviates human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors.

"We have a great need for volunteers in a number of interesting service areas such as disaster, blood services, health and safety, events, grant writing, fundraising, office support staff and armed forces," said Bishop.

"We need to have people trained to open shelters in all of our counties. It takes 44 volunteers to run a shelter during a disaster for 24-hours," she continued. "Taking into account the fact that as few as one-third of the trained volunteers will actually be able to come out to assist during a disaster, we truly need to have a small army of people trained and willing to help."

Maintaining a core support group of volunteers is essential to being available and ready in all situations, Bishop said. An effort is made to match a volunteer's skills, interests and time restraints to the right job.

Fitness coordinator to lead a session at Parkinson's seminar

Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury wellness coordinator Kori Poplin has been selected by the Davis Phinney Foundation to lead a session at the 2012 Victory Summit May 19 in Richmond.

The Colorado-based foundation, established by cyclist and Olympic medalist Davis Phinney in 2004, supports programs that deliver inspiration, information and tools to help people living with Parkinson's better manage their daily routines. Each year the foundation sponsors a series of "Victory Summit" symposiums to bring together people to hear leading movement disorder neurologists and physical therapists.

The day's activities include a number of Movement Breaks to keep the audience active and showcase local resources available to them. RWC's Poplin has been asked to lead one of these sessions.

"I was thrilled to be asked to participate in the Victory Summit," said Poplin.

A graduate of the University of Arizona with a degree in exercise science and health science, Poplin began working with seniors as a volunteer while still in high school. Her first experience with people living with Parkinson's came in 2004 when RW-C began its Parkinson's Support Group.

"I attended a course to become a certified instructor for sessions aimed at helping those with Parkinson's learn to stay active. I soon found that these people are wonderful to work with, and I'm delighted that, today, the group has accepted me as one of their own," said Poplin.

Poplin taught in RW-C's Fit to Move program for eight years. Initially, she conducted all of the classes. Today she leads one session. The others are taught by Jay De Pew, who has Parkinson's, and fitness instructor Angie Jackson.

Kori Poplin and Jay De Pew are keys to the ongoing success of the Fit to Move program at Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury near Irvington.

"We complement each other in using different approaches to get participants moving and pushing themselves," said Poplin.

Having someone with Parkinson's as an instructor has been particularly beneficial, she added.

The reputation of RW-C's program throughout the region was one reason symposium organizers asked Poplin to lead an activity session.

"We decided to focus on supporting those with Parkinson's in 2004, when a resident pointed out that the nearest place providing assistance was in Richmond," said outreach programs director Tish Nystrom.

Since then RW-C has developed a comprehensive support program. In addition to fitness activities, support groups for those with Parkinson's and their caregivers, coordinated by volunteer Rita De Pew, have become popular with RW-C residents and members of the community, who make up more than 70% of participants.

"We offer these services at no cost to all participants," Nystrom said. She noted support for those with Parkinson's and their caregivers has become RW-C's most significant community outreach initiative.

RW-C is serving as a sponsor for the Richmond Victory Summit at the Greater Richmond Convention Center at 403 N. Third Street in Richmond. Activities will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 3:15 p.m. Lunch and refreshments are provided.

The symposium is free, but reservations are required. To register, go to davisphinney-foundation.org/, or 1-877-782-9444.

Blessing of the Fleet is Sunday

The community is invited to the 42nd annual Blessing of the Fleet Sunday, May 6, at the old Morris-Fisher factory tall stack property off Menhaden Road in Reedville.

This is an ancient tradition celebrated each spring all over the world and Reedville hosts its own special version for local watermen and all who enjoy and work on the water, said committee member Kristine Gibson. The ceremony also marks the opening of the fishing season on the Chesapeake Bay and local clergy ask for God's blessing on the fishermen and their boats and for a fruitful season.

Sponsored by Omega Protein and St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Fleton, the celebration has evolved over the last 40 years to include crab potters, pound net fishermen, the menhaden fleet and pilots, and commercial and private pleasure crafts from all over the Northern Neck, said Gibson.

At 3:30 p.m., a parade of boats will proceed up Cockrell's Creek to the tall stack site where the ceremony will begin at 4 p.m.

"This year's honorary Harbormaster is Marvin B. 'Mate' Swift," said committee chairman Jim Godwin.

The parade will be led by the Chesapeake Breeze and the Reedville Fishermen's Museum's Elva C, escorted by Capt. G. R. Rose on a Virginia Marine Resources Commission patrol boat, said Gibson. Omega Protein will be represented by the Calcasieu Pass. All other boats are invited to follow in the parade and to anchor off the old tall stack property to view the ceremony.

Music will be provided by St. Mary's Episcopal Church Choir, Bethany United Methodist Church Choir and the Reedville Chorale, she said. The choirs will be joined by the Northumberland High School Symphonic Band. Thomasina Acree of Shiloh Baptist Church will begin the ceremony and sing the national anthem.

Del. Margaret Ransone is the featured speaker, said Gibson. Del. Ransone worked at the family business, Bevans Oyster Company, and is descended from generations of watermen. She serves on the executive committee of the Virginia Seafood Council and also served on the Virginia Marine Products Board.

A memorial wreath will be cast on the water by the harbormaster and an honor guard from the American Legion Post 117 will be present.

Service programs will be distributed on the water and also available at the parking lot. The Northumberland High School Beta Club will help with various ceremony activities.

"We thank all those who are participating and contributing to such a deep-rooted community tradition and we are appreciative to the students of Northumberland High School who will be adding their special contribution to the service," said Gibson.

Directions: Take Northumberland Highway to Reedville. At the Y, bare left onto Fleton Road, then right onto Menhaden Road at the Omega Protein sign. Special handicapped parking area will be available. Please bring lawn chairs.

In case of severe weather, the rain date is May 13.

Heritage concert tickets to go on sale Wednesday

The Rappahannock Women's Chorale and Northern Neck Big Band will present the seventh annual Heritage Concert at 8 p.m. May 19 at the Lancaster Middle School Theater in Kilmarnock and at 3 p.m. May 20 at the Northumberland High School Auditorium in Claraville.

The chorale will offer several patriotic selections including "This is My Country" arranged by Roy Ringwald and Douglas Wagner's "I Sing a Song for America" in observance of Armed Forces Day.

"We hope veterans in the area will celebrate Armed Forces Day by attending the concert," said director Brenda Burtner. "This is our way of saying 'thank you' to them for their service and sacrifice."

Oboist Katherine Shrader plays with the Northern Neck Orchestra and will accompany Mark Patterson's arrangement of "Danny Boy," said Burtner. The chorale is accompanied by Northumberland Elementary music specialist Todd Barnes.

The 11-member Northern Neck Big Band will play Sonny Rollins' "Don't Stop the Carnival" arranged specifically for the band by Dick Cale, a retired band director from the Newport News area. Also on their program is "A Child is Born" arranged by John Denton, said director Kenny Flester.

Tickets are $10 in advance, or $15 at the door. Ticket outlets are Bank of Lancaster main branch in Kilmarnock, Ross's Rings and Things in Kilmarnock, Chesapeake Bank in Lively, and The Box in White Stone. Tickets also may be purchased from chorale and band members. Tickets will go on sale Wednesday, May 9.

Proceeds from concerts support and enhance music programs in area schools and a music scholarship, said Burtner.

But thank you because you are greatly appreciated and loved.
With our everlasting love,

Mr. Davenport was educated at Christchurch School and the University of Virginia. He served his country in World War II in the European Theater, including the landing at Normandy and Battle of the Bulge. For his service, he was awarded four campaign stars.

He served as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of National Benefit Plans, Inc., was a founding director of First City Bank of Newport News and a member of the board of directors for Newport News Savings Bank, which later became Tidemark Bank.

Jim felt strongly that the people of a community should invest themselves in organizations that improve their community. Jim also served as member, vice chairman, and chairman of the Newport News Planning Commission.

Since his boyhood years in the Northern Neck, some of Jim's favorite times were spent bird hunting and fishing. Retired Capt. Thomas B. Denegre Jr.

IRVINGTON—Retired U.S. Navy Capt. Thomas Bayne Denegre Jr., 92, of Irvington died April 28, 2012.

He was born February 20, 1920, in New Orleans, La., the son of the late Thomas Bayne Denegre and Alma Baldwin Denegre.

After enlisting in the U.S. Naval Reserve at age 17, Denegre transferred to the U.S. Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps at Tulane University. With signs of war building up, he gained an officer's commission in 1941 and immediately volunteered for the submarine service where he served for 19 years. He commanded a submarine, and later a division of six submarines.

During WWII, he made 10 submarine war patrols in enemy-controlled waters. He was awarded the Silver Star Medal and the Presidential Unit Citation for his actions in combat. He held the Submarine Combat Insignia with stars for seven successful war patrols. He also held other combat area ribbons.

Toward the end of the war, he had the good fortune to marry Louise Turberville Radford of Kansas City, Mo., who was his life-long companion and greatest supporter.

Post war duties included service in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, USN Postgraduate School, The Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Chief Naval Section MAAG Belgium, where he received the Army Commendation Medal for his performance representing the U.S. Navy, and command of a deep draft U.S. Navy supply ship.

Continuing in leadership roles after retiring from a 27-year career in the Navy, Denegre entered the banking industry where he rose to positions of senior vice president and senior trust officer. He created the trust department for Chesapeake Bank of Kilmarnock and in this capacity he served on the board of directors of the Chesapeake Bank, and vice chairman of the board for the Chesapeake Financial Shares Holding Company.

While with that bank,

Denegre also led a group of dedicated citizens to form the Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury Continuing Care Retirement Community of Irvington. He served as chairman of the board of trustees of the RW-C facility for 15 years, and then served as chairman emeritus.

For over 20 years, the Denegres lived in their historic house, Pop Castle, on the Rappahannock River near White Stone. Tom loved to sail his sloop Pimpernel and many brass victory plaques attesting to his racing acumen adorn the walls of the Rappahannock River Yacht Club. Tom and Louise often cruised with friends on the waterways of the U.S. East Coast as well as European waters.

In the early 1990s, the Denegres moved into the Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury Retirement Community where they, and their beloved Spaniel dogs, enjoyed their remaining years. Tom left this world enormously grateful for the loving care he and Louise received from the dedicated staff at RW-C.

Capt. Denegre is survived by his children, Thomas Bayne Denegre III, John Baldwin Denegre and Eleanor Radford Denegre. Surviving grandchildren are Brooke, Taylor and Alden Denegre.

A funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, May 4, at Grace Episcopal Church in Kilmarnock, with burial following at Christ Church in Weems. The Rev. David May will officiate. A reception will follow at 2:30 p.m. at Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury.

Memorial gifts can be made to the Rappahannock Westminster-Canterbury Memory Support Facility Fund, 132 Lancaster Drive, Irvington, VA 22480.

In the summer of 1945, on a train heading for a visit home after the war, he met Helen Joyce Drewry. Several weeks later they married, and were inseparable for the 66 years of their life together.

Raine earned a bachelor's from University of Maryland and a law degree from the University of Richmond. A member of the Virginia Bar, Raine used his knowledge of business law to build a career advising small-business owners, first through association management, and later as a publisher of tax and estate planning.

He served as executive director of Virginia Farm and Industrial Equipment Association, and other associations. In 1968, he was elected president of the National Farm Equipment Association Managers organization.

Raine was an inventive entrepreneur. In the 1950s, he envisioned and created American Profit Sharing, one of the first companies in the nation to create tax-advantaged retirement plans for small businesses.

In 1962, Raine launched Small Business Tax Control, a monthly tax advisory service. He also launched Dara Business Publishing Company to publish the tax service and market it through the sponsorship of more than 300 trade associations nationwide. In 1972, Raine wrote and published The Business Owner and the Estate Tax.

Raine was a senior warden and longtime member of St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Bon Air. More recently, he was a member of Wicomico Parish Church and a lifetime member of historic Christ Church.

After retiring, Raine's passion for boating and the Chesapeake Bay became a focal point of his life. Raine was a member of Indian Creek Yacht and Country Club in Kilmarnock, where he served as commodore in 1986. He and Joyce would motor down the Inland Waterway from Indian Creek to Marathon Key in Florida each fall for many years, returning in the spring.

Raine is survived by his loving wife, Joyce, and by his three sons and daughters-in-law: David L. Raine Jr. and his wife, Harriet Schanzer; Randolph Clinton Raine and his wife, Elizabeth Carmichael Raine; and Stephen Drewry Raine and his wife, Carole Boehling Raine.

He was called "Cap" by his grandchildren, Stephen Raine Jr., of Richmond; Jacquelyn Raine Allen of Richmond; Jennifer Raine of Richmond; Peter Raine of Richmond; Randolph Raine Jr., of Charlotte, N.C.; Thomas Raine of Richmond; Zoë Raine of Richmond; Joshua Raine of Richmond; and Philip Raine of Heathsville; and his great-grandchild, Stephen Raine III, of Richmond.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. May 5, 2012, at Wicomico Parish Church at 5195 Jesse Dupont Memorial Highway in Wicomico Church. A reception will be held immediately afterward in the parish hall.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to support the work of Wicomico Parish Church.
